Statement of Significance

Last updated on - July 2, 1999

The Beechworth Post Office was constructed in 1870, to a design by Peter Kerr, incorporating a tower dating from 1865 and other materials from an earlier post office building on the site. It is of importance at a State level for the following reasons:

The post office represents a prominent landmark in this important gold-mining centre. It is an intact example of the larger two story post offices of this period, incorporating a telegraph office and postmaster's residence.

It demonstrates the role and essential nature of communications in the development of early Victoria and the growth of individual townships.

It is a significant work of the renowned government architect Peter Kerr, under the leadership of Public Works Department Inspector-General, William Wilkinson Wardell. Kerr was able to accommodate parts of an earlier building on the site, and integrate them into a very successful hybrid of the Italianate style, well proportioned, forming a visual focus in this rural township.

The building was influential in the development of the Italianate style for public buildings within the Victorian Public Works Department. The style dominated designs in this Department for over twenty years.

Permit ExemptionsGeneral Exemptions:

General exemptions apply to all places and objects included in the Victorian Heritage Register (VHR). General exemptions have been designed to allow everyday activities, maintenance and changes to your property, which don't harm its cultural heritage significance, to proceed without the need to obtain approvals under the Heritage Act 2017.

Places of worship: In some circumstances, you can alter a place of worship to accommodate religious practices without a permit, but you must notify the Executive Director of Heritage Victoria before you start the works or activities at least 20 business days before the works or activities are to commence.

Subdivision/consolidation: Permit exemptions exist for some subdivisions and consolidations. If the subdivision or consolidation is in accordance with a planning permit granted under Part 4 of the Planning and Environment Act 1987 and the application for the planning permit was referred to the Executive Director of Heritage Victoria as a determining referral authority, a permit is not required.

Specific exemptions may also apply to your registered place or object. If applicable, these are listed below. Specific exemptions are tailored to the conservation and management needs of an individual registered place or object and set out works and activities that are exempt from the requirements of a permit. Specific exemptions prevail if they conflict with general exemptions.
