Statement of Significance

Last updated on - January 1, 2000

This substantial shop building is historically significant as an expression of the progress of the town of Sunshine by 1924 and for its association with the Robinson family, the first to operate a shop in the local area and still a leading retailer in the 1950s. The building may well be an example of the work of local architect, J. Raymond Robinson, whose brother, T.E. Robinson, owned the building.
