Statement of Significance

Last updated on - November 1, 2009

Statement of Significance as recorded under the Queenscliff Heritage Study 2009

Mythian is of local historical and architectural significance as an example of a modest Victorian residence built in Queenscliff in the early years of its development. Although modified, its original form remains legible. Mythian is also of interest for its historical associations; with early settler James Taylor, who worked in the lighthouse service for many years; and a number of prominent Victorians who either owned or occupied the house in later years, including the Hon. Caleb Jenner MLC, and brewer and businessman Edward Latham.

Physical Description 1

During the period 1867-8(3) he built an eight room stuccoed stone and brick walled house 4) (stone in the outer walls and brick internal walls). He added a striped concave roofed verandah and a picket fence which faced King Street, and an unusual double-hung window and shutters facing St Andrews Street.(S) Aspects of the house which are typical of Queenscliff are the M-hipped roof and the chimney-shaft cornices.

Physical Description 2

Extract from the 2009 study

Mythian is a symmetrically composed rendered brick mid-Victorian house on the north-west corner of King and St Andrews streets. The building is set back from the King Street boundary behind a low garden. A rendered brick fence of later origin extends along the King Street boundary and part of the St Andrews Street boundary. There is a vehicular entrance and shared crossover at the west end of the site in King Street. The east elevation of the house extends along the St Andrews Street boundary.

Mythian has a hipped roof clad in corrugated galvanised sheeting. It has rendered brick chimneys with mouldings at their tops and painted terracotta chimney pots. A cast iron verandah extends across the King Street elevation. This elevation has a pair of double-hung sash windows with multi-paned sashes. These windows are not original, but a sympathetic reinstatement of Victorian-style fenestration, replacing Chicago-style windows that had been fitted to this elevation in the inter-war years. Signage that reads Mythian is also probably of inter-war origin.

Some alterations have occurred to the rear of the house which have extended it along the St Andrews Street boundary and a small addition to the west side of the house which contains the entrance to the house.
