Physical Description 1

Caselli used an identical facade design three years later for the Welsh Presbyterian Church in Sebastapol. The original gable front to the Church with stepped elongated round arch headed windows would have presented a stark austere image. The only decorations beside the windows were the circular vent, the large plain brackets supporting the barge board and the dressed quoin work around the windows and buttresses.

The rendered entry porch has echoed the window design but has a slightly more ornate treatment to the parapet.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.
