Physical Description 1

This distinctive finely detailed two storey red brick house with carriageway would appear to have been constructed in the 1890's. In the 1920's it was the residence of Dr.Davies. .

The most notable features of this building are the carriageway, the cast iron work of .the verandah, and the projecting two storey bay capped by a decorative timber gablet. The three light windows.of the bay are separated by slender Corinthian columns, which support a projecting hood over the central light. The cast iron of the verandah is the same as that used on the verandah of the Alexandria Tea Rooms in Lydiard Street. The building appears to be intact and has a cast iron palisade fence.
