
Langwarrin Flora And Fauna Reserve

Location

255 WARRANDYTE ROAD LANGWARRIN, FRANKSTON CITY

Municipality

FRANKSTON CITY

Level of significance

-

Heritage Inventory (HI) Number

H7921-0020

Heritage Listing

Vic. War Heritage Inventory

Hermes Number 125368

Property Number

Physical Description 1

Historic features from the military occupation include:- site of military camp, including the fountain and mature exotic trees. - reservoir and associated constructions, built by the military. - target pits and stop butts.

Usage/Formal Usage

Heritage Inventory Present Use: Park/Reserve

Veterans Description for Public

The Langwarrin Flora And Fauna Reserve, at 255 Warrandyte Road, was a former military site. Approximately 233 hectares of land was purchased in the 1880s for use by the military, and was transferred to the Commonwealth in 1901. The land was used for manoeuvres during the 1880s, and although there was apparently little building at this time there were some wells dug. Buildings had been erected by 1901, although there is little documentation, and the rifle range was reconstructed in 1912. German prisoners of war were detained there in 1914, in tents initially, and then in huts built in 1915.

From August 1915 venereal disease patients were also housed at the site and the camp was redesigned. The Victorian Government decided against resuming the area and, at the end of 1920, the Ministry of Defence sold all except two buildings. The Reserve was apparently little used by the Army during the Second World War. From 1974, the site was used by the Army Reserve, school cadets and Balcombe Army Apprentices' School.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.

For further details about Heritage Overlay places, contact the relevant local council or go to Planning Schemes Online <http://planningschemes.dpcd.vic.gov.au/>