What is Significant?

The Meeniyon Honour Avenue, planted in 1918 in Whitelaw and Geale Streets, Meeniyon.

Why is it Significant?

The Meeniyon Honour Avenue is of local historic, and aesthetic significance to the township and districts of Meeniyon and Stony Creek.

Historically, it is important as one of a series of similar memorial avenues that were established throughout the Shire following the planting of the Leongatha Memorial Avenue of Honour earlier in the same year, and expresses the significant effect that the First World War had upon small rural communities. (AHC criteria - A.4 and D.2) Aesthetically, the now mature avenue enhances the appearance and amenity of commercial centre of Meeniyon, and complements the setting of the World War 1 Soldiers Memorial, which was constructed five years later. It is also notable as a rare example of a World War 1 memorial avenue to use Australian native trees. (AHC criteria - B.2 and E.1)

Physical Description 1

The Meeniyen Avenue of Honour predominantly comprises West Australian Flowering Gums, which are situated in Whitelaw Street (in the median strip in the commercial area, and also the nature strip on either side between McDonald and Royston Streets), and along the nature strip on either side of Geale Street.

There is a gap in the Avenue in Whitelaw Street between the two groups of trees, which suggests that some intervening trees have been removed.

Veterans Description for Public

The Meeniyen Avenue of Honour, on Whitelaw and Geale Streets, was planted to commemorate the First World War. The Avenue was planted by local school children on Wednesday, August 14th 1918, which had name tags attached to honour local residents from the Meeniyen and Stony Creek districts who served.

The establishment of the avenue was discussed at a meeting held on July 31st 1918, which was chaired by Mr TA Welshford, with Mr WJ Farrell as secretary. It was decided at this meeting that West Australian Flowering Gums would be planted in Whitelaw Street, up to the top of the hill in Geale Street, and also in George Street to Railway Crescent. Following the meeting, a notice inviting people to participate in the establishment of the Meeniyen Honour Avenue appeared in the "Great Southern Star" on August 13th 1918.

The establishment of the Meeniyen Avenue of Honour followed the successful establishment of the Leongatha Avenue of Honour in June of that year, and happened at about the same time as the planting of similar memorial avenues within the then Shire of Woorayl at Koorooman, Nerrena and Wooreen. The Meeniyen Avenue is locally rare amongst the avenues established at this time for using Australian native trees, rather the exotic English trees that were predominantly used elsewhere. The only other example in the Shire using native planting is the Toora Honour Avenue.
