Statement of Significance

Last updated on - September 13, 1999

A late and exuberant boom-style hotel built in 1897 whose eclectic design reflects the architectural antecedents of a number of earlier Bendigo buildings.

* The four storey brick structure has an elaborate mansard roof and decorative rendered street facades which are encircled by a two storey verandah. It was designed by architect Phillip Kennedy, a native of Bendigo, who received his training at Bendigo school of mines under Nicolai and was articled to Vahland before moving to Melbourne to work with William Pitt. He opened his Melbourne practice in 1889. The contracting firm was Baxter and Boyne.

* The site of a hotel since 1854 and as such an ongoing part of Bendigo's social traditions.

* Having housed a number of important visitors including Prince George (later George V), Donald Bradman and Dame Nellie Melba.

Permit Exemptions

General Exemptions:

General exemptions apply to all places and objects included in the Victorian Heritage Register (VHR). General exemptions have been designed to allow everyday activities, maintenance and changes to your property, which don't harm its cultural heritage significance, to proceed without the need to obtain approvals under the Heritage Act 2017.

Places of worship: In some circumstances, you can alter a place of worship to accommodate religious practices without a permit, but you must notify the Executive Director of Heritage Victoria before you start the works or activities at least 20 business days before the works or activities are to commence.

Subdivision/consolidation: Permit exemptions exist for some subdivisions and consolidations. If the subdivision or consolidation is in accordance with a planning permit granted under Part 4 of the Planning and Environment Act 1987 and the application for the planning permit was referred to the Executive Director of Heritage Victoria as a determining referral authority, a permit is not required.

Specific exemptions may also apply to your registered place or object. If applicable, these are listed below. Specific exemptions are tailored to the conservation and management needs of an individual registered place or object and set out works and activities that are exempt from the requirements of a permit. Specific exemptions prevail if they conflict with general exemptions.
