Interpretation of Site

The retaining wall is probably part of the former facility, and may have been used as a floor support for the former slipway facility. The site is of social significance and is one of the few examples of a boatbuilding facility of its period left on the Maribyrnong river.

History

A slipway and boatbuilders facility was situated here in the 1920/30's (Vines, 1989: np). Jack Jones built small fishing boats and yachts, and also hired boats to young people and operated river cruises on Sunday afternoons. The site is now occupied by a private residence, which was once locally known as Manfred Stables.

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.
