Statement of Significance

Last updated on -

What is significant?

The Waterloo Cup Hotel, opened in October 1889 at 252 Maribyrnong Road, Moonee Ponds is significant.

How is it significant?

The Waterloo Cup Hotel is of historic and aesthetic significance to the City of Moonee Valley.

Why is it significant?

It is historically important (Criterion A) as one of a number of prominent and substantial hotels in the Municipality recalling its importance at the time of the 1880's Land Boom. Its proximity with the Saltwater River associates the hotel with the role of this water course as a recreational resource last century and well into this century.

It is aesthetically important (Criterion E) as a substantial and externally intact (Criterion B) three storeyed hotel in the Italianate manner, being in this respect representative of many throughout the metropolis.

Physical Description 1

An imposing late Victorian Boom period three storeyed stuccoed Italianate hotel on a corner location with rusticated ground floor, corner splay and pavilions to the corner and each end of the street elevations. The pavilions enclose pilastrated loggias at the upper residential levels with semi-circular openings, the flat arched windows to the pavilions having triangular and curved pediments. At street level the openings have semi-circular and segmental heads and appear to be substantially intact. The parapet is solid to the loggias and formed by circles in the pavilions. At Scotia Street the street level accommodation is extended in rusticated work to the north.
