Physical Description 1

A typical red brick and rough-cast stucco Queen Anne villa with asymmetrical planning, a high hipped main roof with protruding gabled roof bays and Marseilles tiles, and a timber corner verandah with a conical spire over. The verandah frieze is notable, resembling the intricacy of others of the style: e.g. 60 Park Street.

Generally complete except for replacement of a presumed picket front fence.

Contributive part of the Riversview Estate Precinct.
