Physical Description 1

A simple weatherboard villa residence on approximately 4040 square metres of land. The hip roof is narrow with a long ridge, suggesting the building has been extended at some stage, probably with the addition of the hip roofed projecting bay. The windows in the facade have plain narrow frames and sills, identical to the front door. A straight narrow verandah spans the facade and has a wooden floor in a deteriorated condition. The back of the building has a skillion addition to the rear hip roofed wing.
