Statement of Significance

Last updated on -

Built in 1875 for Mr. John Deeble on land subdivided from the original Berwick Run. In 1938 it became the Try Boy's Home for disadvantaged boys. As a training farm, the boys grew their own produce and were self-supporting. It reverted to private ownership after 20 years and was used as a horse stud. It was bought again as a private home by Noel and Marlene Gould, who had already been responsible for restoring 2 other historic Berwick properties. The architects for the restoration were Whiteman and Peck.
