
Fuller Organ - Brightwell

B6311 Fuller Organ

Location

60 JUNCTION ROAD BLACKBURN NORTH, WHITEHORSE CITY

Municipality

WHITEHORSE CITY

Level of significance

Regional

Heritage Listing

National Trust

Statement of Significance

Last updated on - June 23, 2005

A two-manual instrument of 9 speaking stops built in 1897-1900 by the Kew organbuilder Alfred Fuller, installed at the Mackenzie Street Methodist Church, Bendigo in 1900 and moved to its present location in 2000. This instrument is believed to be the final instrument produced from Fuller's Kew workshop and is of significance for its high state of intactness, attractive Gothic-style casework and console fittings. Also of interest is the incorporation of an earlier soundboard and four ranks of pipework for the great organ, possibly from St John's Church of England, Heidelberg.

Classified: 15/04/1992

Revised: 07/05/2001

UPDATE - 11/04/2013 - Location changed from 'Brightwell' 145-147 Kilmore Rd, Heathcote to St Phillips Catholic Church, 60 Junction Road, Blackburn North

Hermes Number 68341

Property Number

This place/object may be included in the Victorian Heritage Register pursuant to the Heritage Act 2017. Check the Victorian Heritage Database, selecting 'Heritage Victoria' as the place source.

For further details about Heritage Overlay places, contact the relevant local council or go to Planning Schemes Online <http://planningschemes.dpcd.vic.gov.au/>