Statement of Significance

Last updated on - October 13, 2005

A church of which the nave also functioned as a school (attended by the notorious Ned Kelly), which was erected under the supervision of George & Schneider between 1857 and 1862 with the west elevation derived from a Pugin design.

The chancel was added in 1877 by T A Kelly, to whom the rather unfortunate sacristy has also been ascribed, and alterations to the building in recent years have detracted from its significance.
