History

Heritage Inventory History of Site: The Cummings' brewery was first established in 1845 by John Cummings. The malthouse, a four level bluestone building, was built by Charles Liang in 1851. In 1857 James Volum & Co bought the brewery, which remained in the family until 1958 when it was taken over by Carlton United Brewers. The malthouse was originally a four level building which was converted into a single storey in the 1960s. Floors were removed and the walls lowered, windows and the two main doors were bricked in. The cellar was filled in and concreted over. The east wall was removed, a roller door installed in the rear wall and a new roof constructed.
