Elderslie, Barringo Road, New Gisborne, is a substantial brick house believed to have been built for Thomas Ferrier Hamilton in the early 1850's. Additions were made circa 1900. The dwelling is single storeyed and is characterised by its encircling timber verandah and the row of parapet gables to the sides of the house, with their capping courses and round vents. French doors are features.

Elderslie, Barringo Road, New Gisborne, is an early surviving and substantial house which is also important architecturally and for its intactness. The colonial style building is exemplary of its era, yet is unusual for and is distinguished by its rows of gables and their detailing. The degree of intactness of this building is unusual.

Elderslie, Barringo Road, New Gisborne, has deteriorated in recent years, but is in sound condition essentially and is substantially intact.

Permit Exemptions

General Exemptions:

General exemptions apply to all places and objects included in the Victorian Heritage Register (VHR). General exemptions have been designed to allow everyday activities, maintenance and changes to your property, which don't harm its cultural heritage significance, to proceed without the need to obtain approvals under the Heritage Act 2017.

Places of worship: In some circumstances, you can alter a place of worship to accommodate religious practices without a permit, but you must notify the Executive Director of Heritage Victoria before you start the works or activities at least 20 business days before the works or activities are to commence.

Subdivision/consolidation: Permit exemptions exist for some subdivisions and consolidations. If the subdivision or consolidation is in accordance with a planning permit granted under Part 4 of the Planning and Environment Act 1987 and the application for the planning permit was referred to the Executive Director of Heritage Victoria as a determining referral authority, a permit is not required.

Specific exemptions may also apply to your registered place or object. If applicable, these are listed below. Specific exemptions are tailored to the conservation and management needs of an individual registered place or object and set out works and activities that are exempt from the requirements of a permit. Specific exemptions prevail if they conflict with general exemptions.
